I.INTRODUCTION

While there are many festival-related rituals in Hinduism, vivaah(wedding) is the most extensive personal ritual an adult Hindu undertakes in his or herlife. Typical Hindu families spend significant effort and financial resources to prepare and celebrate weddings. Indian weddings, especially Hinduweddings, are steeped in rich tradition. From the setupof the events that take place to the tradition included at every turn, tender meaning flourish. Indian weddings are super colorful. Let your imagination flow with creativity in outfits. Weddings are filled with joy, excitement, enthusiasm. Nevertheless, the joyous event, is tiring and tedious. Weddings becomehectic and stressful if not properly assisted. Pressure during planning wedding can lead to undergo somethings. There are high chances of forgetting important things and then plan them at last moment.couples face embitter situation in looking for weddingproducts and services here and there. And vendors andplanners have difficulties to expand their customer network. Wholesome Weddings is designed to be a one-stop web- based platform used by couples, vendors and planners. Each end user has different point of view towards the system, depends on the needs in terms of their bit parts in the system. Couplesuse the website for their wedding design, plan and management. System is used to market and sell their services and products by the associated vendors. Planners use the site to held interaction between couples and vendors.
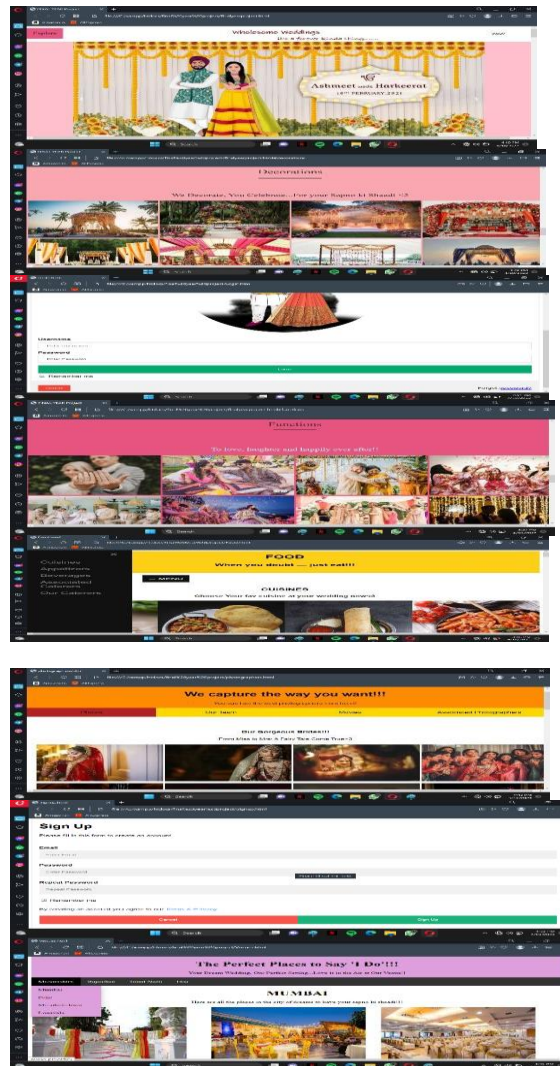

II.LITERATURE REVIEW

We have designed this website in a way that it overcomes all these drawbacks that we came across while surveying. We have tried our best to keep the project user friendly and simple to use for the customers. We aim to provide all the services and customer has the freedom to choose which services totake. The website is to help people plan and enjoy their wedding and not to burden them with unnecessary things which are not even required. The boarder, popular trends can seem the most important to brides, but the smaller trends are just as important to consider when you plan a wedding. Factors like thebudget allotted and venue location can greatly affect the decisions made regarding the wedding planning. Most of the times people are so busy in trying to get everything right that they forget that wedding is supposed to be something they should enjoy ,because its an unforgettable memory and one of the most important event of life. IV. SCREENSHOTS OF THE PROJECT

V.FUTURE SCOPE

In today's busy life style people cannot manage time for wedding preparations, arrangements, plans. Our website helps them to do all the nuclear, so there are no enough people to look after everything. As our websites looks after everything, user doesn't require to look for people. As prices are increasing day by day, traditional ways are going to get expensive, our website will provide same services at affordable cost
